WELCOME MESSAGE OF PRESIDENT'S FEDERATION

It is my pleasure to invite you to the "2nd CMAS Freediving and Finswimming Paralympic World Championship," which will take place in Lignano Sabbiadoro (Udine), at the Bella Italia Sports Village, from 14 to 18 November 2024.

After last year's successful experience, Italy will, therefore, once again host the Paralympic Freediving and Finswimming World Championship. FIPSAS attaches special importance to the latter event, which this year will carry a two-fold meaning: in addition to awarding the world titles, it will play a key role in selecting the athletes who will make it to the 12th edition of the World Games, scheduled in Chengdu, China, from 7 to 17 August 2025, featuring Freediving among the other Paralympic sports.

This will further spur us to do make every effort to stage a top level event, where we expect to witness a large turnout, giving a further and even more significant momentum to the international of the Freediving and Finswimming Paralympic movement.

I am particularly pleased, therefore, to extend my warmest welcome to the foreign Delegations and all the athletes, trusting we will all experience days filled with enthusiasm and under the banner of healthy competitive spirit. Finally, I wish to extend my welcome and appreciation to A.S.D. Pinna Sub San Vito, which will collaborate on the event, to the FIPSAS Friuli Venezia Giulia Regional Committee, to the local authorities and to all those who will take part in this long-awaited event: managers, coaches, accompanying persons and athletes, all of whom — I am sure — will do their utmost to ensure that this edition, too, will turn out to be a success.

The best of luck to all the athletes: may the best man win!

FIPSAS President
Prof. Ugo Claudio Matteoli

THE CITY OF LIGNANO SABBIAADORO

Lignano Sabbiadoro stands on a long sandy peninsula covered with pine trees, the southwestern end of the beautiful Marano lagoon nature reserve. Its slight slope, the sandy beach in front of the Coast of Istria, a safe bathing for families and the active nightlife, make it a popular resort for Italian and foreign tourists. The extreme point of the peninsular area is divided into three districts: Lignano Sabbiadoro is one of them and is accompanied by Lignano Pineta, 1 km further south, and Lignano Riviera, more recent but still all centred in its natural features, also given the close ness of the Tagliamento River. In total there are just under 7,000 residents. The name of the resort was originally Lignano, in 1935 'Sabbiaadoro' was added exclusively for promotional purposes. The development of the tourist resort began in the early twentieth century, when after the reclamation began the construction of some bathing establishments, however accessible only by boat from the lagoon. Before that, nothing existed in these places, except a small area of refuge for some fishermen. The ancient plans of the Serenissima, duly compiled by the so-called Water Savi, made no mention of either the name or the characteristic of the area, considered in the complex of the important lagoon territory. The wonderful beach, however, could not go unnoticed for much longer and the first hotel was built in 1903. Its urban growth, however, was delayed, not only because of the malarial area in the vicinity, but also because of the lack of basic infrastructure: it had to wait more than two decades before the construction of the main and vital road artery. Today's city has reached the maturity of urban planning and infrastructure in the best way and presents itself with a wide variety of attractions. Moving between its neighbourhoods is possible through urban transport managed by the SAF, but Lignano is also to be explored on foot or perhaps by bike. Riviera, the western part of the peninsula is characterized by the villas and residential condominiums, all gracefully decorated with beautiful pine trees; Pineta, in the city centre, has a modest shopping mall, famous beaches and a plethora of venues suitable for evening and night fun; Sabbiadoro, at the extreme tip of the peninsula, contains a lively shopping mall and even more night and cultural life than the previous ones. The hotel presence in general is remarkable. For those who want to enjoy the maximum stay at the seaside, we recommend the baths of Lignano, located in the Riviera area and immersed in the centuries-old pine forest (directions: waterfront R. Riva 1) or even the numerous spas and fitness centers of the city. In addition to the exclusively seaside attractions, Lignano also offers some historical and naturalistic itineraries. The original farmer's core, placed close to the lagoon, has two typical rural houses of sure interest, probably dated from the 17th century. The religious cult for centuries has concentrated in the small church of St. Zacharias and the fifteenth century church of Santa Maria, in the resort of Bevazzana, and in the interior of which is noticed a series of frescoes of the 15th century. The Hemingway Park is a park of botanical interest that covers 4 hectares of land and is named after the famous American writer who visited the resort during his stay in Italy. The writer is also dedicated to the prestigious "Ernest Hemingway Lignano Sabbiadoro Prize" in journalism, fiction and non-fiction. The Punta Verde Zoo Park is a natural oasis with ponds, animals (1200 specimens belonging to 200 different species) in semi-open areas and eco-environmental paths.

The nature in Lignano is also enriched by the UNICEF Park, born in the late 1980s, dedicated to children in as many as 4 hectares of entertainment between skating rinks, mini golf, swimming pools, bike paths and much more. The natural attraction, however, remains the Oase of the Wwf Laguna in Marano. Birdwatchers will be able to observe birds of prey such as the marsh hawk, the osprey, the buzzer, the small and real hen harrier, the kestrel, the brown kite. Don't miss it.
