Aqaba – Jordan's Gateway to the Red Sea

Aqaba is the only coastal city in the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan and the administrative center of Aqaba Governorate. Geographically, it is located on the Gulf of Aqaba in the Red Sea, with a strategic position linking Asia, Africa, and Europe. Aqaba is famous for its warm and mild climate throughout the year, making it a popular tourist destination, especially for diving and water sports enthusiasts.

In ancient times, Aqaba was known as Ayla and played a major role as a trade hub on the Incense and Spice Route. Over the centuries, it has been a crucial point in regional trade, connecting the Arabian Peninsula with the Middle East.

Today, Aqaba is known for its crystal-clear blue waters and vibrant coral reefs, attracting divers and marine life enthusiasts from all over the world. It also boasts many historical landmarks such as the Aqaba Fort and Ayla Islamic ruins. Aqaba is also a key economic center, with the Port of Aqaba, Jordan's only seaport, and the Aqaba Special Economic Zone (ASEZA), which offers an attractive investment environment.

The majority of Aqaba's population consists of Jordanians, and it is a culturally diverse city full of vibrant tourism and commerce.

Aqaba is located in the far south of Jordan, surrounded by majestic desert mountains on one side and the warm waters of the Red Sea on the other. It is about 330 km from the capital Amman, with modern road networks connecting the two cities, in addition to the King Hussein International Airport, which facilitates travel to and from local and international destinations.

 Note: Aqaba is a safe and stable city, located far from any regional conflicts, including the ongoing war in Gaza. We warmly welcome visitors from all around the world to enjoy the beauty of the Red Sea and Jordan's warm hospitality.

Climate - Precipitation

Aqaba has a hot desert climate, characterized by very hot summers and mild winters. The average summer temperature is around 35°C (95°F), sometimes reaching even higher temperatures, while winter temperatures are moderate, ranging between 15°C to 20°C (59°F to 68°F).

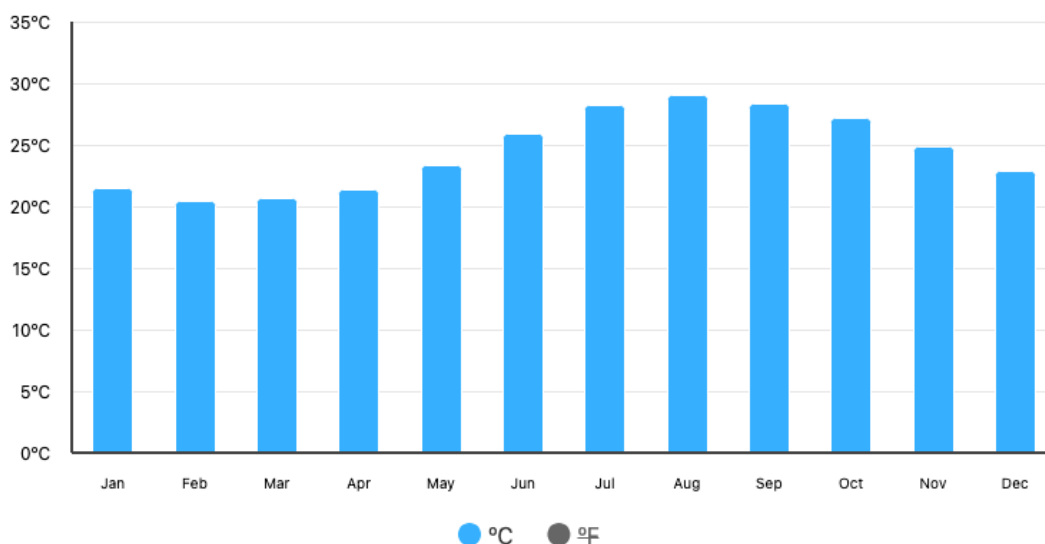

Aqaba experiences very little rainfall, with an annual precipitation average of 30 to 50 mm (1.18 to 1.97 inches), making it one of the driest cities in Jordan. Despite the high temperatures in summer, Aqaba enjoys low humidity, making the weather more bearable.

Thanks to its mild winter climate and hot summer weather, Aqaba is an ideal destination for marine activities and water sports year-round.

Climate - Winds

The wind system in Aqaba is significantly influenced by its location on the Red Sea. During the summer, the winds are generally light and come from the northeast or northwest, helping to alleviate the heat. In winter, the prevailing winds are from the northwest, and they can sometimes be strong, leading to higher waves in the Red Sea. Occasionally, hot desert winds, known as the "Simoom," blow from the southeast, which raises temperatures and makes the air drier.

Underwater topography and bathymetry

Aqaba boasts distinctive underwater topography, making it one of the best diving destinations in the Red Sea. The depths of the waters in the area range from 10 to 100 meters just off the coast, making it an ideal spot for divers of all levels. The region is home to many coral reefs close to the shore, providing a rich environment for marine life.

Freshwater and sediment input in the area

The Wadi Musa is one of the main sources of freshwater flowing into the Red Sea through small local wadis, which leads to the inflow of rainwater into the sea. However, the area is generally dry, and sediment input is minimal compared to some other regions.

Tide and waves

Tide fluctuations in Aqaba are not very prominent, unlike in some other coastal areas. On average, the change in water level does not exceed 1m.

Currents

The prevailing marine currents in Aqaba generally come from the north and northwest, driven by the movement of Red Sea waters from the north to the south through Gulf of Aqaba. These currents are usually moderate but can intensify significantly during strong northwest winds or desert winds from the southeast. These currents help transport warm waters from the Red Sea into the region, contributing to the rich biodiversity of the coral reefs.

13. ADDITIONAL SAFETY MEASURES

- 13.1. Every competitor as a certified diver needs to know diving skills, techniques, and safety procedures, diving with the buddy, ascent speed, and bottom times without decompression and air management.
- 13.2. Every athlete dive with a BCD, pressure and depth gauge, regulator, alternative air source, dive computer, and safety marker buoy. A marker buoy (sausage) to each competitor is obligatory.
- 13.3. During the International Championship, dives will not exceed 30 meters of depth, cannot dive more than sixty (60) minutes (including the safety stop), and will not do decompression dives.
- 13.4. If the divers lose each other underwater, they have to ascend to the surface. Only when they find each other on the surface, they can descend again. If they do not see each other, they must report this immediately to the judge on the boat or the organization.

It is very important to respect the environment and any form of artifact that may be sighted (for which we ask you to give information to the LOC).
